HISTORICAL ACCOUNTING REPRINTS

Since Arno Press went out of business a few years ago, many accounting historians have wondered where they could acquire some of the 156 accounting books that were reprinted by that organization. There is now good news for book buyers. It seems that the entire stock of Arno Press has been acquired by a distributor known as the Ayer Company. Anyone interested in old accounting books should write to the Ayer Company for a catalog of books still in print. The Ayer Company is managed by the man who originally founded Arno Press, Arnold Zohn. For a copy of the latest accounting history catalog, write to:
